

A music community for you!

For more than 20 years, the Adult Music Student Forum (AMSF) has provided resources and encouragement to adult musicians striving for growth in musical skill and understanding.

AMSF is an association of adult music students organized to provide educational and performance opportunities for non-professional/non-collegiate adult instrumental and vocal students, regardless of their level of expertise. AMSF welcomes and encourages beginners, students returning to music after an extended absence, and advanced students to join this musical community.

AMSF offers opportunities to share enthusiasm and experience, be exposed to new ideas, develop performance skills, meet others with similar musical interests, and to grow in understanding and appreciation of the musical experience. AMSF provides members with:

- opportunities to perform in recital series and community outreach programs designed for varying levels of repertoire and experience;
- two or three special events each year on topics of interest to active adult music students;
- Keynotes, a quarterly newsletter with articles that educate, that explore issues of technique, performance, and practice, and that inform readers of the activities of members and the organization.
